Nevertheless, he has been of on named as an available candidate for his party to put in the field for President. Like other eminent Justices of the Supreme Court, Judge Millen would have liked to exchange the ermine of the Judge for the purple of the Presidency. His party, however, never named him. On one or two occasions it went further and certainly fared worse.

Judge MILLER was the orator at the Constitutional Contennial Colebration at Philadelphia on September 15, 1887, on which occusion he delivered a learned and splendid oration.

In society, and with the Washington public generally, Judge Minley was a great favorite. In common with the other members of the Supreme Court, he was a great diner-out. He was familiar figure on the street, often waiting the entire distance from his howe to the Capital about two miles.
